youngest son of Hon. Wm. L. Marcy, Secretary of State, in the 22d year of his age.

The melancholy intelligence of the presnature death of this amiable and highly-accomplished young gentleman will be received with the deepest sensibility by a numerous circle of friends who knew the noble qualities of his nature, and who looked with high anticipations upon the opening promise of his life. A year or two since he graduated at Trinity College, Hartford, Connecticut, with a high reputation for ability and success in the studies to which his attention had been devoted, and returning to his home at Albany, entered with ardor upon the pursuits connected with civil engineering, the profession which he had chosen, and in which his rare aptitude and ability as a mathematician seemed to insure his success and distinction. It is probable that the real and and the content of th civil engineering, the profession which he had chosen, and in which his rare aptitude and shility as a mathematician seemed to insure his success and distinction. It is probable that the zeal and assiduty with which he gave himself to these labors and studies contributed still more to undermine his already precarious health. Alarming symptoms of consumption soon developed themselves, and early in the last autumn he was compelled, under the watchful care of his father, to seek, in a journey to the Southern States, and afterwards to the West Indies, the alleviation and aid which a milder climate might bring to his condition. Returning to the North with his health still unrestored, he determined, under the advice of his physicians, to try the effect of a sea voyage; and with that view took passage in the company and under the affectionate care of his brother, Lieutenant Marcy, on the Preble, bound to the coast of Spain. He left Norfolk on the 30th of June last, and breathed his last five days afterwards.

Seldom, indeed, have we been called upon to perform a more painful duty than thus to record the early death of a young man so eminently fitted to attract to himself the cordial affection and esteem of all who knew him, and whose powers and character combined to give the brightest promise of future usefulness and honor. His many friends will long cherish his memory; and we trust that those who knew him best and loved him most will find in their afflicting bereavement a source of consolation in the remembrance of his virtues, and in the faith which sees mercy and wisdom in all the dispensations of Divine Providence.

IRREGULARITY OF THE MAILS.—The irregularity of the mails is a standing complaint with the papers in every section of the country. At no time have we before seen so much fault-finding in regard to the delinquencies of the mail. The press of every shade of politics join in the cry, and eite particular instances which justify their animateversion. The Post Office Department will have need of a great reformatory movement to free itself from the odum into which it is falling.

Arrival of the Arabia -One Week Later

New Yoak, August 23.—The steamer Arabia, with Liverpool dates of August 13, and one hundred and twenty-two passengers, arrived at an early hour this morning, having made the trip in less than ten days. She saw ashore on Nantucket shoals a steamer, supposed to be the Pacific, of the Collins line, which left Liverpool on the 10th. On the 14th the Arabia passed off Maiden's Light a steamer supposed to be the Europa.

The Franklin arrived at Cowes on the 10th instant.

Nothing definite had transpired in regard to the Turkish question, but it was the belief of almost every one that the matter would be amicably settled. The London Post boldly asserts that the Principalities will be evacuated by the Russians during the first week of September, and that the allied fleets would soon after leave the Turkish waters.

MARKETS.

Liverpool, August 13.—Notwithstanding the favorable Eastern accounts and the good condition of trade at Manchester, cotton continues dull. The daily demand for export has been fair, however, and the decline for the week cannot be quoted at 1-16d. The sales of the week have been 41,490 bales, including 6,060 to speculators, and 7,410 to exporters. The market on Friday closed quiet, with sales of 7,000 bales. The quotations are—Fair Orleans, 7d.; Middling, 6dd.; Fair Mobile and Upland, 62d.; Middling Mobile, 6d.; Middling Upland, 5 15-16d.

Breadstuffs—The fine weather continues, and breadstuffs have declined in value. Considerable sales of wheat have been made at 2d. a 3d. per flushel decline. Flour was not materially lower, though some circulars quote a decline of 6d. per barrel. Corn firm.

A RIDE IN AN OMNIBUS, though sometimes neces sary, is not to all persons particularly desirable especially when two loads of passengers are crowded into one vehicle, to say nothing about the brace of over-worked horses staggering beneath the weight imposed upon them. There is one comfort however, in such a state of affairs—a "real bless ing to mothers," fathers, and all who patronize emnibuses, namely: the horses cannot run away and cut capers like the animals attached to buggies smashing the "wagons" and endangering the liver of the occupants.

When there were opposing companies the dri

NEW STIPS

NEW STIPS of the one and the destruction of the other.

We should not be surprised if, one of these days some policeman shall awake to a sense of duty, and, seeing twenty passengers squeezed inside and six or eight clinging to the top of an omnibus, arrest the driver under the law prohibiting "cruelty to animals," and make him or his employer smart quiring two load of human freight.

THE SUIT FOR MAINTENANCE, before Justice Morsell, which was commenced on Monday, was brought to a conclusion yesterday afternon, so far as the magistrate's court is concerned. As we Lamps, &c. have heretofore stated, Mrs. Maryman left her husband on account of ill-treatment, and her father, Mr. Philip Arth, brought suit against H. R. Maryman to recover the sum of forty-five do lars, being the amount due for her board during three months' maintenance by him. Some of the evidence was extremely disgusting in its details. Mr. Ratcliffe having addressed the jury for the complainant, occupying two hours and a half, he was followed by Mr. R. J. Brent for the defendant, and this gentleman spoke for nearly three hours. Before the argument was quite finished, Maryman's counsel procured a writ of certiorari, thus removing the case from the jury to the circuit court, in which Maryman has filed a hill in chancery, asking that his marriage be declared null and void, on the ground of deception and fraud by his wife and her relatives.

We learn that the jury had made up their minds to render a verdict for the complainant, but the certiorari precluded them from so doing.

The jurors, for their two days' attendance, each eceived the sum of twelve and a half cents! that eing the legal amount for a jurors' attendance.

Music AT Funerals .- The Baltimore Patriot, n an article on the "Public Taste," says:

"There is a class who occasionally violate som rule of decorum, not to gratify any wilful or ma-licious prompting, but entirely from inconsidera-tion. To this class, we think, belong some of the military bands of our city, who, when there is occasion for their services on the Sabbath—either to assist in dedicating a church or bury the dead— profane that sacred day, and offend the taste of a protate that sacred day, and offend the taste of a very large portion of our citizens, by playing in the streets the popular negro melodies of the day. We would, with the kindest feeling, suggest to such that if they are determined to persist in the calling, the performance of sacred tunes on the Sabbath would be better appreciated by our citizens, and not be offensive to 'ears polite.'"

The above remarks, though intended for the vicinity of Baltimore, are applicable to this city. After following the remains of a loved one to the grave, the procession moving to the sound of slow and solemn music, and witnessing the tear-producing ceremonies at the tomb, the column i re-formed with indecent haste, and the band strikes up "Jim along Josey," "Old Zip Coon," or airs particularly suited to a ball-room, or a barn after the husking is over!

A few months ago a member of one of the bene volent orders in this city was buried on a Sabbath, interment on that day being inevitable. His brethren paraded in full regalia as a mark of respect. The on the return from the grave, and this obviated, to a great extent, the objection generally made to Sunday musical performances.

The playing of the jig tunes on such occasions has always sounded to us as a rejoicing that somebody had been buried, although the lively airs were intended as a spur for fatigued legs to hurry home lest the bodies they carried should, like an old colored gentleman celebrated in song, be too late for their suppers.

An Assault.—Yesterday afternoon two hod-carriers, employed upon a building on Louisiana avenue, between Seventh and Eighth streets, got into a difficulty. One of them, named Patrick O'Bryon, knocked a hod of mortar from the shoulders of Henry Dennison; whether by accident or design does not appear. Dennison threatened terrible things if the offence should be repeated; whereupon O'Bryon picked up a brick and struck the head of his fellow with it, cutting him severely. The consequence was, an arrest of O'Bryon. Justice Smith held him to bail in the sum of five hundred dollars for his appearance at court.

WASHINGTON SENTINEL.

WASHINGTON SENTINEL.

I PROPOSE to publish in the city of Washington, in September, a political newspaper, under the name of the Washington Statistic.

In doing so it is proper I should make known the principles it will maintain and the policy it will advocate.

It will support cordially and carnestly the printiples of the Democratic Republican party of the United States. It does not propose to be the organ of any department of the Government, except in so far as an independent maintenance of the doctrines of that party may represent its opinions and express its views.

United States. It does not propose to be the organ of any department of the Government, except in so far as an independent maintenance of the doctrines of that party may represent its opinions and express its views.

It will not be smidtlous to commend itself to the secule by a blind flattery of their rulers. It will seek public support by the bold avowal of the sentiments which are common to the genuine Democracy of the Union, and by the condemnation of all such as may conflict with them, from whatever quarter they may come. It will seek to be (and it will endeavor to deserve the title) the organ of the Democratic party of the United States. The Sentimet will maintain, as a fundamental truth of that great party, that the States formed the Union between them by the ratification of the Constitution as a compact; by which also they created the Federal Government, and delegated to it, as their common agent, the powers expressly specified in it, with an explicit reservation of all others to the States, or to their separate governments. The exercise of any powers beyond those thus delegated is therefore an usurpation of the reserved authority of the States by the sgent of their own creation.

The Sentimet will uphold and defend the Union upon the basis of the rights of the States—under the Constitution—and thus by sedulously guarding the latter it will the more effectually strengthen and perpetuate the former.

With regard to the exercise of the powers of the Federal Government, the Sentimel will take as the principles of its action that Congress shall exercise no power which has not been delegated by the Constitution, according to a strict and fair interpretation of its language and spirit; and that it shall not seek to attain indirectly an object through the exercise of constitutional power, for the direct prediction, and all granted powers must be used for no purpose except such as is clearly intended by the Constitution.

In respect to the internal administration of the Government the Sentimel will sustain the s strictest rinciples of justice. The real interests of the country upon each occasion demanding attention will be its guide in the course the Sentines will pursue.

The material policy of the world in this age is essentially aggressive. In the growing sense of weakness of some of the nations of the Old World and the ambitious realtesness of others, a common of weakness of some of the nations of the Old World and the ambitious realtesness of others, a common of weakness of some of the nations of the Old World and the ambitious realtesness of others, a common of weakness of some of the nations of the Old World and the ambitious realtesness of others, a common of weakness of some of the nations of the Old World and the ambitious realtesness of others, a common of weakness of some of the nations of the Old World and the ambitious realtesness of others, a common of weakness of some of the nations of the Old World and the ambitious realtesness of others, a common of weakness of some of the nations of the Old World and the ambitious realtesness of others, a common of weakness of some of the nations of the Old World and the ambitious realtesness of others, a common of weakness of some of the nations of the Old World and the ambitious realtesness of others, a common of weakness of some of the nations of the Old World and the ambitious realtesness of others, a common of the Old World and the ambitious realtesness of others, a common of the Old World and the ambitious real testion will be its guide in the course the testion will be its guide in the course the testion will be its guide in the course the sentially aggressive. To our future brethren of the press we extend the hand of friendly greeting. The Sentinel is the rival of no press of its own party—the personal enemy of none of the other.
The present Democratic Administration has our best wishes for its success in the establishment of the great principles upon which it came into power; and in its honest labors to attain such an end it will find the Sentinel is friend and coadjutor.
